ABYSSINIAN CARAVAN OF 300 CAMELS CAPTURED BY ITALIANS

Rome reports of the annexation of Northern Ethiopian territory will result in the placing of Haile Selassie Gugna (above) on the throne as "Emperor." He is the son-in-law of the Ethiopian Emperor and deserted with his force to the Italian commanders in Eritrea.

RICKETTS PLAYS MASTERLY KNOCK FOR 42 RUNS

LAST TWO WICKETS ADD 68 RUNS

SHANGHAI NEED 179 TO WIN

Unexpected resistance from Ricketts, Dunkley and Pereira was responsible for Shanghai being set the task of scoring 179 in the fourth innings for victory in the 35th match of the Interport Cricket series. With only 20 minutes' play before lunch Leach sent out Stokes and Booth to open the innings and the pair were undefeated at the interval with 33 runs on the board.

Thus, at lunch Shanghai required 146 runs for victory, a task by no means beyond them as the wicket, favoured with a slight shower early this morning, is considerably better to-day than it was yesterday.

INTERNATIONAL AID FOR CHINA

JAPAN WILL REFUSE TO PARTICIPATE

MYSTIFICATION IN LONDON

Tokyo, To-day.

Following consultations between the Ministries concerned, it is understood that Japan will shortly reply formally to Britain concerning the proposed international Chinese loan, expressing regret that the Chinese currency reform, which greatly affects Sino-Japanese economic relations, was carried out without prior consultation with Japan, and declaring that a reform based on foreign credits will weaken China's power of self-rehabilitation and sow the seed of foreign control, for which reasons Japan is not in a position to agree to the loan.

REPRESENTATIONS TO MUNICIPALITY BY THE JAPANESE

ON SHOP-BREAKING INCIDENT

FUTURE POLICY NOT YET DECIDED

London: The report that Japan will shortly reply to Britain refusing to participate in an international loan to China on the ground that the recent Chinese currency reforms were decreed without prior consultation with Japan, has caused surprise and mystification in London.

WARNING TO CHINA

NANKING ROAD MYSTERY MUST BE SOLVED

STRICT MEASURES MUST BE ADOPTED

Shanghai, To-day. Strong representations in consequence of a shop-wrecking incident were made by Mr. Ishii calling this morning on Mr. O. K. Yui, Secretary-General of the Government of Greater Shanghai. It is understood that Mr. Ishii drew the attention of Mr. Yui to the nature of the pamphlets, and suggested that the Kuomintang was involved.

However, the current rumours that the Japanese demanded its suppression were emphatically denied to Reuter by a spokesman of the Japanese Embassy, who said that nothing had yet been decided in connection with future Japanese action.

Extra police are patrolling the Settlement for the protection of Japanese nationals.

Meanwhile the tension has marred the celebrations of Sun Yat-sen's birthday anniversary. The usual animated crowds, flags and other decorations are absent from the streets of Chapei and Hongkew.

The steady exodus of Chinese residents is continuing—Reuter.

An earlier message said that a

Japanese porcelainware shop in Nanking Road, the centre of the shopping district of Shanghai, was attacked last evening by a crowd of Chinese, who smashed the window panes and scattered anti-Japanese pamphlets about the streets, but fled before the arrival of the police.

ROOSEVELT'S PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE

AMERICA'S POLICY OUTLINED

Washington, To-day. Weighty pronouncements on America's world policy were uttered by President Roosevelt when speaking at the unknown warrior's tomb yesterday. He cited trade barriers as having caused international friction and disclosed a definite agreement between the United States and Canada to eliminate disagreements and unreasonable trade restrictions.

"INCIDENT" ARISES AT CANTON

WAITRESS INSULTED BY SAILORS

BLUEJACKETS OF A JAPANESE GUNBOAT

From Our Own Correspondent,

Canton, To-day. Police authorities here do not believe that the ten Japanese sailors intentionally desired to create any incident on Saturday night when they became drunk and insulted a waitress of the Hop Kee Restaurant at Shup Pat Po Road South.

A big squad of police arrived to maintain order and succeeded in persuading the sailors to return to Shamen. They are believed to be blue-jackets of the Japanese gunboat Saga.

As a result of this incident, the authorities here are taking special precautions to prevent the occurrence of any stage-managed events in Canton. Although relations between Chinese and Japanese in Canton are friendly, there is no telling what will happen here in view of the many "incidents" arising in North China and Shanghai.

It was reported earlier that an unknown ship, later identified as the Silverhazel, was aground and broken in half on San Bernardino Island off the southern tip of Luzon. The crew, huddled on a small rock close to the shore, could not be rescued at the time because of the swell and the tide.

The Perry arrived at the San Bernardino Straits at dawn this morning. It reported that the sea was moderating and that it hoped to take off the marooned people by noon at the latest—Reuter.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

London, Yesterday. The political campaign for the general election on Thursday has already been suspended, though some activity was assumed last night.

This scene at the League of Nations meeting in Geneva may have world wide significance if the Italo-Ethiopian war spreads, as many fear it will, as the outgrowth of sanctions imposed on Italy. Premier Laval of France (right) and Baron Alois (Italy) are shown here as the League Council accepted the committee's report condemning Italy.

POSITION SHOWN BY PLANE MESSAGE

FIERCE HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING

AMAZING FEATS OF MOBILITY

Asmara, To-day.

A parachute message dropped from a reconnoitring aeroplane picked up by the Italians resulted in the capture of an important Abyssinian caravan of over 300 camels after fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

The Italians receiving the message made a forced night march and intercepted the caravan. The Abyssinians entrenched themselves on a hill and the Italians scaled a neighbouring height, from where they raked the enemy with machine-gun fire followed by a bayonet charge. The Abyssinians left 20 dead and 10 prisoners.

Amazing feats of mobility have been recorded in the past few days. Despite the heat in the low-lying country, the advancing columns have covered 150 miles in three days.

DEFENCES ALONG RAILWAY LINE STRENGTHENED

FRANCE TAKING NO CHANCES

ITALIAN ADVANCE REPORTED ON ALL FRONTS

Addis Ababa, To-day.

The morale of the Abyssinian troops in the Tembien district is reported to be excellent by a priest who has arrived from Tigre. The troops live on the rich resources of the country, the priest says. Notwithstanding the Italian assertions, Tigreans will never accept the rule of Ras Gugsa, he adds.

It is reported from the southern front that the Italianised tribes are in the attack on Goraiha.

DE BONO IN MAKALLE

Asmara: Ras Gugsa, mounted on a white horse, welcomed General de Bono when, on the King of Italy's birthday, the latter ceremoniously entered Makalle. Ras Gugsa made an obeisance after which, in company with General de Bono, he marched in procession to a service at the Catholic Cathedral—Reuter.

Addis Ababa, To-day.

The preparations for the defence of the railway line from Djibouti to the Abyssinian frontier are going on rapidly. The French Somaliland garrison is being reinforced with 3,000 white troops, while war material is continually arriving at Djibouti. Two French cruisers, two hydroplanes and three army planes are waiting in the harbour of Djibouti.

DE BONO'S REPORT

A message from Rome announces that the 42nd official army report states that General de Bono has telegraphed that the Italian troops have occupied all the heights south of Makalle and hence command the whole valley of Shelticott, while the troops of the second army corps are continuing their action on the territory between Aksum and the Tacasse River.

CHIEF OFFICERS IN COMMAND

CHANGES NOTIFIED BY PRESIDENT LINERS

Two American mail liners, the s.s. President Grant and the s.s. President Jefferson, will do the journey between Hong Kong and Shanghai under the command of their respective chief officers.

Captain Lustie will leave the Grant in Hong Kong to-day and will join the President Jefferson when she arrives on Friday. Meanwhile Captain Clark will leave the Jefferson when she arrives in Shanghai to-day and join the Grant when she reaches the northern port.

They will then be in command of their proper ships.

This seeming mix-up arose when Captain Lustie transferred to the Grant in order to take that ship with the American Congressional party to Manila, and he is now rejoining his own ship to navigate them back to the United States from the Philippines, where they have been attending the inauguration ceremonies.

BRITAIN UNDER BLANKET OF HEAVY FOG

London, To-day.—Severe fog interrupted road and rail communications in parts of Yorkshire, the Midland counties, Gloucestershire and Somerset. Yesterday the Thames Valley was also affected in the earlier part of the day and the visibility on inland roads near London was less than five yards in places—British Wireless Service.

REPRISALS AGAINST SANCTIONS

MEASURES DECREED IN ITALY

LICENCES REQUIRED BY IMPORTERS

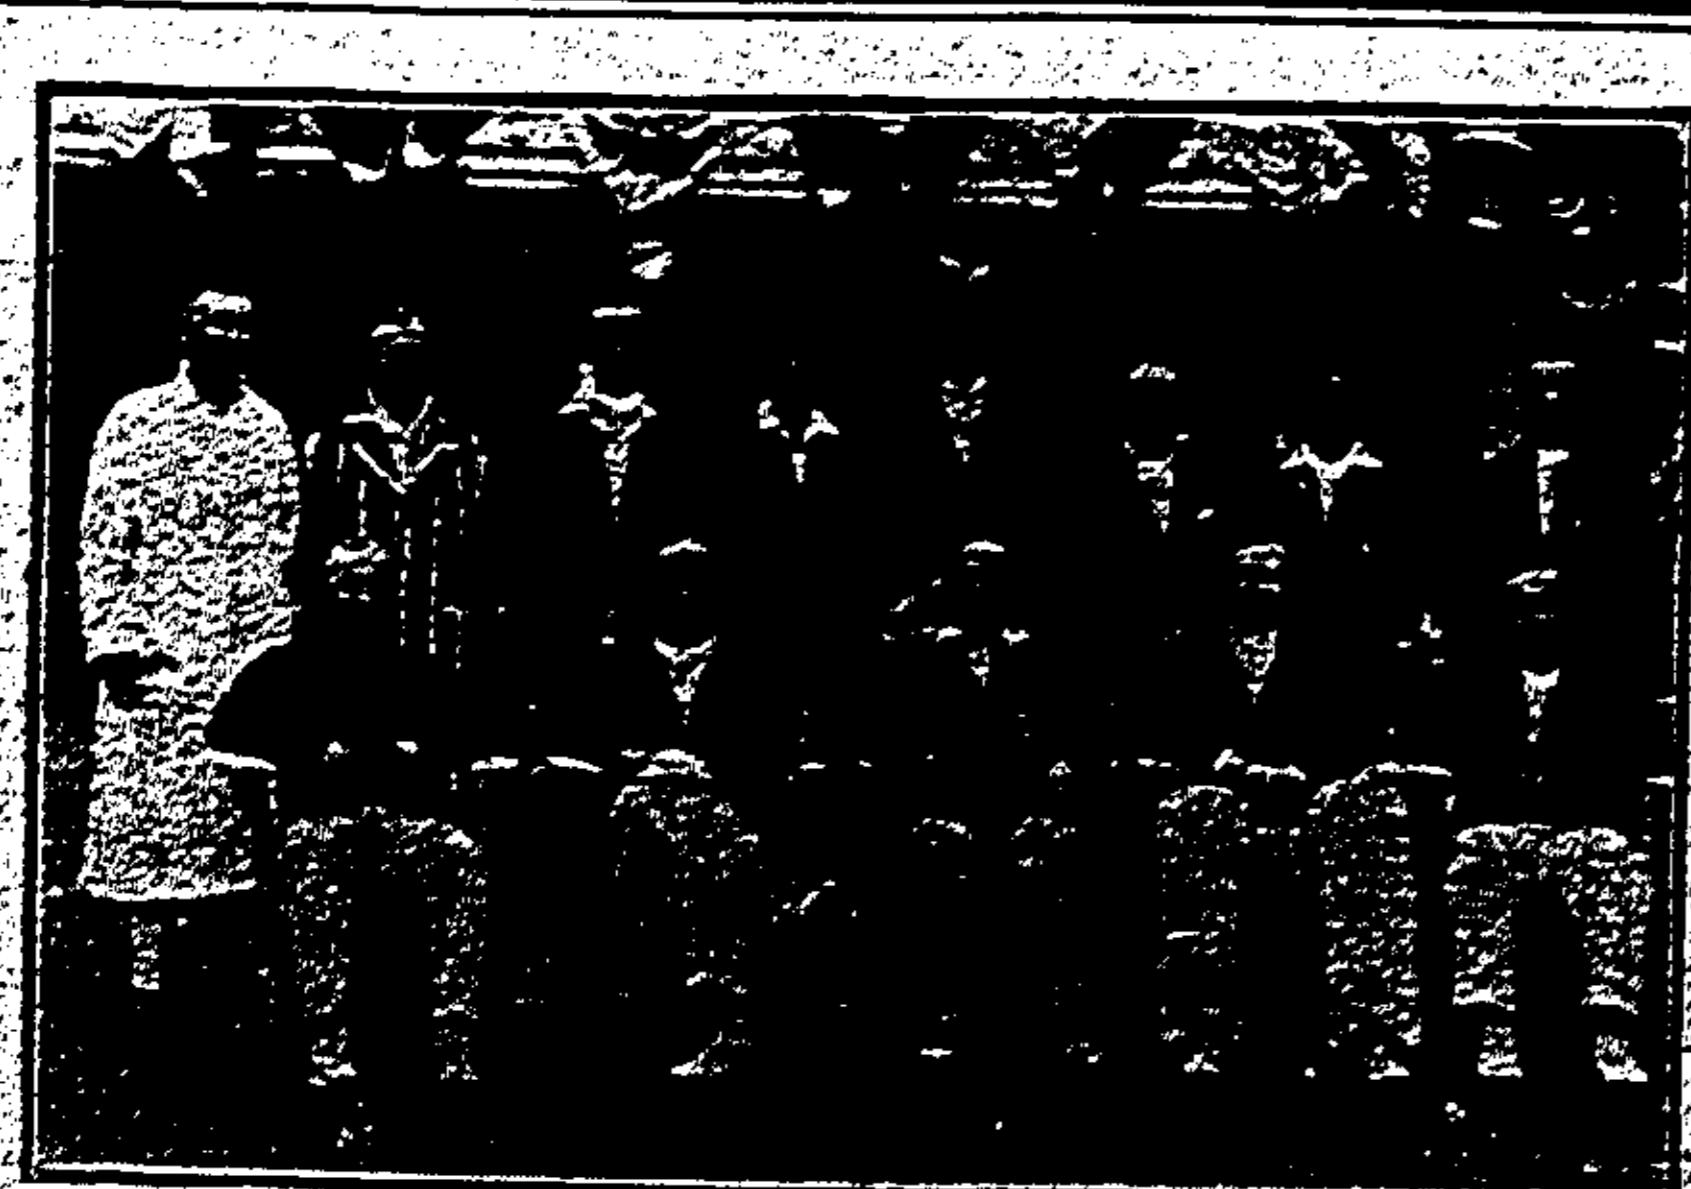

Rome, To-day.

Almost complete power to regulate imports and institute reprisals against the sanctionist States is given to the Government by a decree whereby from November 18, importers require Government licences for almost everything they buy from abroad, including iron, steel, meat, coffee, cereals, cotton, wool, silk and metals.

It is understood that the Government's note of protest to the sanctions' Powers is a long document which attacks the sanctionist Powers on judicial and moral grounds. It denies that the League acted justly in invoking Article XVII for the first time against Italy, while not in invoking it against the Sanctions Powers.

COMFORT IN THE TROPICS

Relief From Heat And Bites

SIMPLE REMEDIES ARE OFTEN BEST

Prickly heat is both an irritating and persistent complaint, but relief may be obtained almost immediately by applying eau de cologne to the affected parts after the bath, and if this is done daily, a complete cure will eventually result. Methylated spirit is more economical and quite an effective substitute, but it has an unpleasant smell.

As this treatment is usually a little too drastic for the tender skin of children, a solution of one teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda to one pint of boiling water, to be made for them and this should be kept in a bottle for use as required.

FIGHTING INSECTS

Mosquitoes and sandflies are always with us, more or less, but here are a few ways of keeping them at bay. Use carbolic soap in your bath, should insects have a liking for you and, if the bruised outer skin of a lime or lemon is rubbed lightly on the legs and elbows, this will form an extra protection.

A solution made of one ounce of epsom salts to one pint of water, if applied to the legs or arms, and allowed to dry, will also keep insects away, whilst, peroxide of hydrogen is effective in the same way, when it is patted on to the skin.

Spread the massage cream over the palms and fingers of the hands as well as on the face and throat before working the palms upwards over the cheeks, in such a manner that the little fingers pass close to the nose. This movement should be repeated twelve times and then another twelve, but this time the palms of the hands should be brought over the sides of the cheeks up to the temples.

Rid Yourself Of Double Chin

Massage And Cream Excellent

METHOD OF RUBBING IMPORTANT

Double chins are more often due to flabby muscles than to excess flesh, and to get the muscles back into proper condition, massage is again beneficial. Start by smearing a little cream on to the entire neck, beginning at the junction of the chest and neck and working upwards with the tips of the fingers to the point of the chin.

Or, even more effective than the fingers, use a rubber roller. Smaller ones for this specific purpose can be obtained from any chemist's or large stores.

A revolutionary method of massaging the chin back to its true lines is used in many modern beauty salons. The chin itself is not touched at all, but the specialist does vibratory hand massage over the scalp, raising the chin from behind the ears and the neck muscles from the nape of the neck and the top of the spine.

HOME TREATMENT

Even this type of treatment can be carried out at home, however, in modified form by the woman who is prepared to spend five minutes on the process night and morning. The lines from nose to mouth, those heralds of approaching middle age, are concentrated upon.

An abundance of pleats and pockets and an extra wide belt characterise this smart Autumn dress of bottle-green light weight woolen worn by Mary Carlisle, the screen actress. The hat is green in a lighter shade with a brown band.

CLEAN STRAW MATTINGS

Straw matting should be washed occasionally with salt and water to stop them from turning yellow. Bran water is also good, the proportions being two handfuls of bran to one gallon of cold water.

Fashion Changes Noticed

Faded Colours Fade Out

REPLACED BY BLUES, PURPLES AND GREENS

A certain hard lightness in colouring is a natural reaction from the faded tones to which we are getting accustomed. Sapphire blue, purple, grass green are some of the new colours shown, especially for hats and accessories.

Against a neutral background of grey, brown or black, of which women choose their winter outfit, these vivid touches of colour will indeed be welcome on dull, short days.

For evening and formal afternoon wear, a picture atmosphere is being introduced into the new designs. The tight bodice and the flaring skirt one sees quite frequently and in direct contrast to a long tubelike skirt with a high-shouldered top.

FASHION IS TRICKY

Fashion, too, is playing odd tricks with the hem of the skirt into some she puts a row of small godets. Others, she slashes higher than the knee, whilst some are

NEW STYLES WITH FUR ON COATS

Designers Show New Ideas

Belted three-quarter length fur-trimmed coats are fashionable. A rather stiff, shiny fur, suggestive of sealskin, makes the collar and revers on an earth brown suit flecked with yellow. A beige suit has a tailored collar of mole dyed to a warm chestnut brown.

Designers are treating fur differently on winter coats this year. At Peter Robinson's, it makes whole sleeves and yokes on simply cut cloth coats, or is placed in deep bands on the hem-line.

Carrying out the lower neckline trend, some coats have no fur round the neck at all, and fasten with stock scarves of the coat's material. In this case the fur is used instead to make large muff-like sleeves.

Distinctly Russian in appearance is a black waistled coat with deep bands of smoke-dyed squirrel on the hem. The fitted appearance is accentuated by the small tailored squirrel collar and revers.

Important-looking Persian lamb sleeves on another model are graduated in fulness at the wrist. Persian lamb makes the cape collar, which can also be fastened up high to the throat.

MILITARY TREND IN NEW HATS

British, French And American

The military have inspired millinery couturiers as well as dress and coat designers who are using brass buttons and braided frogs in profusion. The English Guardsman's shako is interpreted in bronze velvet with a cascade of natural coq feathers falling down ward from the peak of the crown.

A French soldier's kepi is done up in black felt with red grosgrain band and red feather fancy sticking straight outward at the front. Small black velvet toque effects closely resemble the overseas cap the American doughboys wore.

Feather pom-poms are tucked alluringly on the sides of metallic turbans in the Persian manner.

Trailing feathers sweep over crowns and swoop downward on the neck. A few shallow, pointed-in-front models are made entirely of coq feathers in the vivid tones of autumn leaves on soft maple trees.

LOWER HEELS

Collars are of the bold storm collar and rever type, and are covered with either flat fur-dyed fitch or the ever faithful fox.

Shoes it is interesting to note are flatter heeled than usual and have a monkish influence in the broad strap across the top of the foot.

Shoes matching in colour with their accompanying costume are indicated as an almost universal fashion note.

CREPES GLAMOROUS

The new crepes for fall afternoon frocks vary from soft, drapable weaves to stiffer facette failles worked with shiny figures while evening fabrics are glamorous stuffs inspired by the brocades and tapestries of the Italian Renaissance.

BRIDGE NOTES

ACE v. KING QUEEN

By Elv Calvertson

A count of the honour-tricks in a hand will furnish an accurate estimate of the hand's general strength in an overwhelming majority of cases; but even while counting his honour-tricks a player should keep in mind one factor which has an important effect on the count of honour-tricks.

It will be noticed that an Ace is valued as one honour-trick; also, K.Q.x is valued as one honour-trick. As defensive winners that is as expected trick-winners against the opponents' trump contract their value is about the same. But when playing a hand at notrump the Ace will win only one trick, whereas the K.Q.x combination will often win two tricks, and will always win one trick.

When holding the 4-3-3 distribution which makes an opening notrump bid desirable, a player should count his honour-tricks to see if he has the necessary four.

If he has four honour-tricks (and no more than five honour-tricks) in three suits, he should bid one notrump. Even if he has less than four honour-tricks, he should count his honour-cards (ten-spot or higher). With as many as eight honour-cards, an opening bid of one notrump is still proper, even though holding as few as three and one-half honour-tricks.

A count of his honour-cards showed the North player in the deal below that his hand justified an opening bid of one notrump, even though it contained only three and one-half honour-tricks.

Having eight honour-cards, he was correct in considering the strength of his hand equivalent to that of most four-honour-trick hands.

1-3½ honour-tricks with eight honour-cards are the same as 4 bare honour-tricks.

2-A suit response of only two shows a five-card suit, but denies the 1½ honour-tricks which would justify a raise.

3-North's hand is a minimum notrump; therefore, despite his strong support for hearts, he passes.

South made his two-heart contract with one overtrick, losing only four tricks—one in hearts, two in diamonds, and one in spades. Had the diamond suit not been divided 3-3, he could have made only two odd, which would still have been the best contract.

At other tables the bidding was somewhat different. One or two North players opened the bidding on the over-shaded club suit; South responded with one heart, and then when North bid one notrump, South passed.

In other cases, South passed one notrump.

Where one notrump was the final contract, East usually made the correct lead of the spade ten from the intermediate sequence: West's King forced North's Ace out. Now an attempt was made to establish the heart suit, but East took the diamond suit, and when West led a spade through the Jack North lost four-spade tricks in the hearts and the Ace and King of diamonds, which had won one notrump, which was then less good than the result in hearts.

When East did not shift to

POPULARISING THE SOLDIER'S LIFE

Catching Them Young In Czechoslovakia

Prague

School-children in Czechoslovakia are now allowed to spend the whole day, in groups, with the soldiers in barracks, by agreement between the Ministries of Education and National Defence.

The idea is to increase their patriotic pride in their army and to give the boys an impression of the life they will lead when they come up for their compulsory military training.

Whatever is not of a necessary secret nature is open to the children's inspection and they are encouraged to ask questions. They learn the different bugle calls and some of the words of command.

HONG KONG BATTING ORDER SHOULD HAVE BEEN CHANGED

THRILLING SOCCER WIN FOR H.K.F.A. STRANGE & ROBERTSON IN LIMELIGHT BRILLIANT SERVICES ATTACK

Seleck, above, played a very fine game for the Sappers in the Second Division of the local soccer League on Saturday.

H.K. "TAIL" WAGS

REALLY GOOD BATTING
In carrying his overnight score of 3 to 42 Ricketts played really good cricket. He showed that he was not overawed by the occasion when in Jenkins' second over he hit a six into the Supreme Court. This signalled the return of Pat Madar to the attack, but though he dismissed Dunkley, who had played a very painstaking innings, Ricketts refused to be trapped by the slow bowler and shielded Pereira in masterly style—on one occasion Leach ordered Stokes to allow a ball to go to the boundary in order to have Pereira up against Pat Madar! The move threw away three runs as Pereira left his crease for the first ball and, getting it full toss, scored a single.

Leach did everything he could to keep Ricketts away from the bowling, but, despite his own accurate length, Ricketts' long reach foiled him time and again with the important sixth ball.

FOR LAST TWO WICKETS
Ricketts and Dunkley, who had added 7 runs overnight, were responsible for the score being raised to 106—a partnership of 29—and then Ricketts and Pereira, who played a very subdued innings in order to give Ricketts the bowling, added 39 for the last wicket before Ricketts was bowled by one that came across sharply from the leg stump to take his middle and off pegs.

The last two wickets added 63 runs in 57 minutes.

Hitting a six and five boundaries in his 42, scored out of 81 in 74 minutes, Ricketts played his best innings to date and gave Hong Kong a sporting chance of victory after yesterday's debacle.

Leach again bowled well this morning, but not with the same "fire" as he did yesterday afternoon. He made a very doubtful move when he brought Pat Madar on at the Supreme Court end. Though he had Dunkley in two minds once or twice, Ricketts treated him with scant respect. Madar's wicket cost 26 valuable runs.

SHANGHAI FIELDING FALTERS
The Shanghai fielding was not as accurate as it was yesterday, and the short runs attempted by Ricketts and Pereira did not help matters.

Garthwaite again opened the Colony attack, but was soon replaced by Minu. Both Stokes and Booth, however, appeared very confident and gave no semblance of a chance. Stokes, however, received a nasty crack just above the knee from Pereira, but resumed after several minutes. Two balls later Booth took a nasty wrap on the fingers from Pereira, who was getting up awkwardly.

The outfield, which was slow at the commencement, gradually became faster as play proceeded.

THRILLING SOCCER WIN FOR H.K.F.A. STRANGE & ROBERTSON IN LIMELIGHT BRILLIANT SERVICES ATTACK

A THRILLING soccer game was witnessed on the Club ground yesterday when the annual charity match in aid of Earl Haig's Poppy Day Fund was held, the Hong Kong Football Association beating the Combined Services by 5 goals to 3, four of which were scored in the first five minutes!

The Services enjoyed most of the play and full marks must go to the Association's defence, which underwent a strenuous time, especially in the earlier stages of the second half when, with Strange off the field as a result of a minor head injury, and Gough and Eastman very badly off form, the defence held out with one exception, when Baldry scored.

Sgt. Strange played a grand game and, together with Robertson, shared the honours in defence. The latter was brilliant and nothing can prevent him from obtaining a place in the International trials early next year. Robertson is, however, certain to skipper the Club rugger side against Shanghai, which is a pity, as he is certainly worthy of a soccer "cap."

Among the many distinguished guests present were Major-General Thackeray, G.O.C., and Mrs. Thackeray, Mr. T. A. Mitchell and Comdr. T. A. Hussey, R.N., Vice-Presidents of the Hong Kong Football Association, Major C. M. Manners, O.B.E., Chairman of the Council, and Mr. M. L. Railton, Hon. Secretary of the Association.

The gate receipts for the match were approximately $1,350.

Wong Wing, in the Association goal, made a shaky start but was very good in the second half.

Pivot Very Weak

Lee Tin-sang was evidently feeling the strain of Saturday's strenuous encounter against the Club and did not show up in his true colours until well into the second half. The Association failed badly in their intermediate line, Gough being extremely poor in his spelling, marking and distribution, while Eastman's display barely reached Second Division standard.

Tam Kong-pak, who took Fung King-cheong's place at inside-right, did not reveal his best form and, with a few exceptions, was never really a menace to the Services' defence. Bertie Gosano, on the other hand, changed places with Tam in the second half, and gave a brilliant display, scoring two very good goals.

TOO STRENUOUS
Lee Wai-tong gave another good performance, although he looked tired and confessed afterwards to me that the strain of two big matches within a day of each other was too much for him.

VETERAN PLAYS RUGBY AT AGE OF FIFTY TWO

MR. STOOP TELLS HIS SECRET

CAPPED FOR ENGLAND 15 YEARS AGO

(By IAN COSTER)
London October 18.

Mr. Adrian Stoop is a bit stiff in the back to-day. Yesterday Mr. Stoop, at the age of 52, played in his old position as stand-off half in the Surrey County Rugby trials at Richmond.

Mr. Stoop was capped for England 15 times, the last time 28 years ago. Having spoken to Mr. Stoop to-day, I am able to deny the rumour that it is his ambition to lead England against the All Blacks.

"What's all the fuss about?" said Mr. Stoop. "I played twice last year. There are other men as old as I am still playing Rugby. I had no intention of playing yesterday. It was simply that a team was short, and so I turned out."

"Did you stay the distance?" I asked.

His Secret
"No," said Mr. Stoop, "I came off the field when I was too tired to go on and too hoarse with shouting. If I had not smoked so many cigarettes in the morning I might have stuck it out."

Sam Kerman played a polished innings for Shanghai yesterday.

INSPIRED BOWLING BY LEACH JENKINS GIVES SKIPPER GRAND SUPPORT POLISHED INNINGS BY KERMANI AT CRITICAL STAGE

HAD Tom Hayward changed his batting order Hong Kong's position might have been considerably better than only 117 runs ahead with two wickets in hand. It certainly could have been no worse. When Alec Pearce was dismissed after scoring 14 in 55 minutes Minu or Pereira should have been sacrificed in an effort to knock Leach and Jenkins off their length. As it was, however, the first innings order was retained and Garthwaite, Hayward, Persse and Minu, all of whom could have been looked to for runs to-day, fell one after the other trying to play two inspired bowlers. A hitter might have had that demoralising effect which might have seen 20 or 30 valuable runs added. It was certainly a move that should have been tried, despite Shanghai's failure in the same position.

Early yesterday morning the odds were definitely in favour of Hong Kong winning, and when five Shanghai wickets fell for only 103 runs the prospects were even rosier. Kermani, the visitors' wicket-keeper, however, defied the Colony's well-variety attack for nearly three hours, and his 86 out of 127 in 163 minutes was largely responsible for Shanghai creeping to within 33 runs of the Colony total, a feat hardly expected first thing yesterday morning.

Kermani played a polished innings, hitting 14 boundaries as the result of brilliant hook shots and forcing forward play. Never giving a chance, he saved Shanghai from a bad collapse, sneaking the bowling whenever his partner looked uncomfortable. He was ninth out—to a very fine running catch at cover by Alec Pearce when attempting to force the pace—after a valuable stand with Harry Madar.

Pearce At His Best

Pearce bowled really well after lunch—all his three victims were clean bowled. He might have been retained at the Naval Yard end during the ninth wicket stand—Alec Pearce's first over was an expensive one at a vital period, and Madar did not look at all comfortable against Pearce.

Minu showed a glimpse of his old form, not bowling as fast as he has been doing lately and keeping a perfect length. He deserved his four wickets. Ricketts had the batsmen puzzled, but was beating both the bat and the wicket.

The wingers were disappointing in a way. Through no fault of his, Bickford was starved for a greater portion of the game, while Tsao Kwei-shing, with the exception of a few stray attempts, was completely out of the picture.

The Services gave a very fine all-round performance, although there were one or two men who were evidently suffering from an off-day. Rowlands being one of them.

Wolverson Shines

Wolverson of the Navy, was the pick of the two backs, Swain being inclined to kick-and-rush methods which was just what Lee and his men expected and took advantage of.

The halves played a very fine game, particularly Clarkson, on the right, who, following his poor display against South China's fortnight ago, completely dominated play in his little area and had Bertie Gosano completely bottled up in the opening half. His distribution was good, and he tackled resolutely and without danger to his charge.

Lawton, in the pivotal position, had the misfortune to head the ball into his own net, although if he had not touched it, it still would have been a goal, as Rowlands was at the other end when Tsao Kwei-shing centred. Bowers, on the left-flank, played his best game to date and dazzled the large throng of spectators with several hair-raising attempts to score, one of his shots just being pushed outside the bar by Wong Wing.

Brilliant Forwards

The Services' forwards, particularly Rose, at inside-right, and Ridley and Baldry the left-wing combination, were brilliant and constituted the main source of anxiety to the Association's defence. Rose was inclined to be slightly rash at times, but he made openings which Higgins failed to make use of.

Ridley was very fast off the mark and his two goals inside of five minutes speaks volumes for him. Baldry centred beautifully and his goal was a perfect exhibition of timing and accuracy. Wong Wing being beaten from the moment it left his foot.

Glut Of Goals

The game started off at a very fast pace, Ridley opening the score sensationally within the first minute after a combined movement.

Not long after, however, the Association forwards swung the ball about between themselves, Robertson sending Tsao away and the right-winger flashing across a perfect centre which Lawton helped into the net by attempting to head out.

But more thrills were to come as Ridley raced away and, following a short passing bout with Higgins and Baldry, again sent the ball about between themselves, Robertson sending Tsao away and the right-winger flashing across a perfect centre which Lawton helped into the net by attempting to head out.

The halves played a very fine game, particularly Clarkson, on the right, who, following his poor display against South China's fortnight ago, completely dominated play in his little area and had Bertie Gosano completely bottled up in the opening half. Strange Injured

The second half was full of thrills and incidents. B. Gosano scoring cleverly off his left-foot from the right, veering round at the last moment to put Rowlands off the shot. Not long after Syd Strange's head came into contact with Higgins' knee and he left the field badly dazed. He returned amidst applause.

Higgins was inclined to be slightly rash at times, but he made openings which Higgins failed to make use of.

Ridley was very fast off the

NEW ZEALAND TEAM IS WORRIED*NOT PLAYING UP TO USUAL FORM
VERY SPECTACULAR . . . BUT!

(By J. P. Jordan)

London, October 15.

THE New Zealanders are very disappointed with the form they have been showing in recent matches, particularly those at Newcastle and Hawick, where their opponents scored try for try with them and lost through a dropped and a penalty goal respectively.

Lack of condition accounted for their not being able to get going in early matches, but that cannot be the reason now for not playing up to home reputation.

The repeated failure of their forwards in the scrums is worrying them, and unless a big improvement is quickly shown Mr. V. R. Meredith, their manager, may decide to adopt the British 3-2-3 scrum formation.

RUGBY AT AGE OF FIFTY TWO

"So your fitness is not due to a life of abstinence?" I said.

"No," said Mr. Stoop. "It is not."

The real reason for his fitness came out. Father William, I mean

Mr. Stoop, answered that in his youth he kept all his limbs very supple.

Ever since he was 28, he has done physical exercises for 15 minutes each morning before breakfast.

How Much Speed

How much of the speed and stamina he showed as half for Oxford, Harlequins and England have the exercises allowed him to retain?

"I suppose you could run a hundred in 11 seconds?" I asked.

"Ten seconds," said Mr. Stoop.

"But I never ran a hundred."

"What can you do it in now?"

"Not in 10 seconds," he said.

So the treatment is not really a rival of Voronoff's.

They have won seven matches out of eight. But they are not so much concerned about winning as about playing tip-top football.

Forwards' Problem

In this they have succeeded only up to a point. Some of their combined movements have been brilliantly spectacular, but in many phases, particularly at forward, they have not yet attained the standard of Porter's and Gallaher's teams.

British forward play, all round, is better than it was, though not up to the pitch it reached in the heyday of Wakefield, Vorce, Blakiston, and Conway.

In face of that the only conclusion is that the New Zealand forwards are not a patch on their predecessors, and our county and Border forwards, not to mention Swansea's, have gained the upper hand.

Fancy Packing

High packing and an inability or unwillingness to shove have been the New Zealand pack's chief faults, as vouched for by one hooker who continually beat them for the ball. "I found it easy to get under them," he remarked, "and the rest was simple."

It will be interesting to see what happens to-morrow when Edinburgh and Glasgow, who more closely approximate an international team than any the New Zealanders have met, take the field.

If the Cities' pack are as good as the South of Scotland eight, then their backs, who include the best pair of halves in the four countries—R. W. Shaw and W. R. Logan—and J. E. Forrest and W. C. Murdoch in the three-quarter line, should carry the day.

THOUSANDS OF

Newman Has A Good Season

(By GEOFREY SIMPSON)

London, October 8.

C. W. Newman, who is 44 years old, has just completed a season of club cricket in which he hit the colossal total of 4,032 runs.

For this the Alexandra Park batsman averaged 71, and he made 18 centuries—two of them double ones.

This is believed to be a world record for cricket.

Newman is an amazing cricketer, who long ago convinced bowlers that the "too old at forty" theory is just moonshine. So far in his career he has clouted them for 44,000 runs and 155 centuries—and according to Newman he is "seeing" the ball as well at 44 as he did at 22.

ALL BLACK PLAYER UNFIT

London, October 11.—C. J. Oliver, the vice-captain and centre-three-quarter, is the latest casualty among the All Blacks.

For some time he has been suffering from a strained leg muscle, and in the recent match at Newcastle he suffered from a heavy cold and played poorly below his best form. He is not expected to be out of the game for long.

At least through Baldry, who crashed the ball into the roof of the net from 20 yards, following a centre from Barker.

Just before the end Bertie Gosano left the Services' lead standing when he went through from the halfway line to round off his effort with a goal. Rowlands fumbled the shot.

INSPIRED BOWLING
BY LEACH

The one that was responsible for Leach's downfall went away very quickly. Garthwaite failed to find a length during his three overs, and Alec Pearce did not appear to cause the batsmen any undue anxiety.

Local Fielding Good

The Hong Kong fielding was very sound. Teddy Fincher excelling at silly point and in the gully, and Ricketts and Alec Pearce being very safe with their hands. Ricketts brought off a very fine catch at first slip to dismiss Jenkins off Pearce's bowling, throwing himself to the left to bring off a spectacular two-handed catch.

After Teddy Fincher had been hit by one that cocked and had been caught off a mishit with the next ball, Hong Kong, who started the second innings with a lead of 33 runs, were with their backs to the wall. Leach, who relieved Elliott after the latter had bowled four overs at the Naval Yards end, bowled seven consecutive maidens, five of which were to Alec Pearce, who was barracked for his slow display—at one period he had batted for half an hour without scoring. At the other end Jenkins, who was relieved for only one over, also kept an immaculate length and was turning the ball appreciably.

22 Runs In 55 Minutes

The Pearce partnership—the first instance in the annals of Inter-port cricket that father and son have been associated in a stand—had realised 22 runs in 55 minutes when Tam hit across a leg spinner from Leach and was clean bowled for 26, scored out of 48 in 80 minutes. Five runs later Alec Pearce, who had played four cricket, fell a victim to Leach's wrong 'un' and failed to survive a confident appeal 53-3-14.

Garthwaite opened brimful of confidence, but was bowled by a half volley which he attempted to hit with a cross bat. The Hong Kong batting then presented a pitiful sight, four wickets falling in 21 minutes for only 23 runs. Madar was well caught in Jenkins' leg trap, Hayward fell to a beauty from Leach that came in from leg very sharply, Pearce was an lb.w. victim (he was so ashamed that he went out by the Chater Road entrance!), and Minn was bowled by one that he attempted to play.

Minn had not much hope of scoring quickly when he went in. Both Leach and Jenkins were at the top of their form. He would have been of more use three wickets earlier.

Dunkley Dropped

Shanghai were unlucky not to secure another wicket before the close of play, Dunkley being dropped by Kermani off Jenkins in a thrilling last over. Incidentally, the last over was started on the stroke of five, the time for drawing of stumps!

If there was any doubt on Saturday regarding the question of whether Leach overbowled himself, this was discounted yesterday when he secured 5 for 24 in 17 overs! It was good bowling, and no one could complain about the wicket, which played surprisingly true.

Leach and Kermani have pulled the game out of the fire

On the Somali front the clearing-up action north of Goraih is still progressing, the Italian troops in small motor-cars following up the course of the Fafar River. Two more caravans with a quantity of rifles, ammunition and food have been captured.

RETIRING TO HARRAR
The Italian headquarters at Asmara reports that at Ogaden the whole Italian front is in movement. General Frusci and Colonel Maletti's columns advanced with armoured cars from Sassebene to Dayabur. Another Italian army is situated on the right wing not far from British Somaliland and is also advancing. The Abyssinian forces are retiring in the direction of Harrar.

RED CROSS AIR
Djibouti: The Swedish Red Cross Mission, with five complete motorised outfits, arrived here yesterday, destined for the Abyssinian north and south fronts.

MAKALLE TAKEN OVER

Asmara: General de Bono's entry into Makalle on Sunday night took the form of a triumphal march. The General entered the town surrounded by a company of picked troops of the first army corps.

The Governor Ras Gusga received General de Bono in the market, welcoming the conqueror in the name of the country. Ras Gusga declared aloud that Makalle from now onwards was an Italian town and must remain so.

After General de Bono's answer the Italians and Ras Gusga proceeded to the Roman Catholic Cathedral where a thanksgiving service was held.—Trans-Ocean Service.

Italian Strategy Outlined

POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS

Asmara: In view of the recent successes attained by the northern and southern armies, Italian headquarters here appear to be supremely confident that the junction between the army operating from Eritrea and the forces advancing from Somaliland is now only a question of time, although the realisation of this aim may be delayed by the special political precautionary measures necessary in view of the proximity of the British and French frontiers.

The next objective of the southern army, following the successful capture of the town of Sassebene on the Jor River, a good 100 miles north of Goraih, which is reported to have occurred on Sunday, is expected to be Jijiga, the conquest of which, it is believed, will be quickly followed by the taking of Harrar and Diredawa, which would give the Italians control over the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway line.

The Negus, it is pointed out here, is evidently trying to avoid an open battle before the military and political effects of the sanctions make themselves felt. The Abyssinians, however, it is said, if willing to offer battle at all, will be forced to fight on two fronts simultaneously.

Although the Italians expected that the Abyssinian army was being concentrated at Amba Alatschi, where defensive positions had been prepared, reconnoitring flights by Italian planes showed that none of the Abyssinian forces had been massed there.

FRANCE AS MEDIATOR

Paris: The services rendered to Italy by France are stressed by the newspaper Le Journal, which points out that if England has renounced the idea of closing the Suez Canal this may be solely attributed to the French Government's mediation in London, and that it is furthermore due to France's efforts in Geneva that the automatic application of sanctions has been avoided.

The paper proceeds strongly to criticise the hostile attitude adopted by the Italian press towards France, which it declares to be contrary of the notions of justice and fairness.

The well-known political writer St. Bruce, discussing in Le Journal the possibility of direct Franco-German conversations, criticises French efforts, which are seeking to frustrate such per-

JAPANESE BLACK SHIRTS FOR ABYSSINIA

Ready Prepared With Motto For Italian Troops

Cairo: Astonishing rumours are circulating here concerning the dispute between Italy and Abyssinia.

The latest report is that Japan is sending huge quantities of black shirts to Eritrea for the use of the Italian troops.

The shirts are said to be priced at only 10c each and are inscribed with the words: "A Noi Abyssinia" ("Abyssinia For Us").—Reuter.

SUN YAT SEN UNIVERSITY

Celebrations Of Anniversary

Canton, To-day. The National Sun Yat-sen University yesterday celebrated its 11th anniversary since its establishment as an educational institution in Canton.

The newly constructed Engineering and Law Departments were thrown open to the inspection of visitors in the morning.

An opening ceremony was held at 10 a.m. under the chairmanship of the Dean, Mr. Siao Kuan Ying, representing the Chancellor, Mr. Chou Lou, who is now in Nanking to attend the Fifth Plenary Session of the Kuomintang.

All heads of departments were present at this impressive ceremony.

The members of the distinguished faculty present were Mr. Fan Kee, Mr. Ho Inn Jun, Mr. Chang Yuen Fun, Mr. Dung Jit Yee, and Mr. Lan Ju-Ha. Last but not least Mr. Yeung Hee Jit of the South-west Political Congress was the guest of honour on this occasion.—Union News.

HILLSIDE FIRES IN CANTON

Volunteer Corps To Be Organised

Canton, To-day.

A Volunteer Fire-fighters Corps will soon be organised under the guidance of the Director of the Provincial Public Welfare Department, who has placed an order for several emergency fire-engines and fire-extinguishing implements, with a local foreign import firm. With the approaching winter, hillside fires will soon become daily occurrences.—Neutral News.

To-day's Short Story

Ridiculus Mus

By Doreen Wallace

AT Waking two old men got into the compartment. Both were countrymen, rosy-faced and heavy-booted; both were dressed in the best clothes of the countrymen—dark suits, rusty black overcoats and bowler hats.

The smaller one had white hair and moustache and swimming blue eyes. He seemed to be in the care of the larger one, who helped him in and patted him down into a corner with gestures of husbandly solicitude.

For some time they sat silent, while the small man stared out of the window and sighed. Then, at long hesitating intervals, the big man began to make conversational remarks about the weather and the number of stops on the journey to which the little white-headed fellow replied yes and no uninterestedly.

The young woman in the opposite corner, who had caught her train with no time to spare for the purchase of reading-matter, and who anticipated a boring journey in consequence, directed her mind to her two companions. They were uninteresting, but better than the landscape in the early stages of the route.

What was the parcel which the little man held so firmly and squarely on his knees, she wondered. It had a domed top, but was too small for a birdcage, surely.

For mile after mile he held it there with both hands, keeping it steady. His attitude was stiff, and must be uncomfortable. The parcel was very thoroughly done up in brown paper and string, so there was no prospect of satisfaction for her idle curiosity.

She contemplated the men themselves. Farmers, she thought, going home after visiting relatives; nothing but an open-air life could have given them such lovely complexions in old age. They were brothers, beyond a doubt, and the small one was the older. Both had knotty, cracked hands. Most certainly they were farmers.

The decision to recommission the Straits Government yacht Sea Belle II, which was used for the recent visit to Borneo by H. E. the Governor, Sir Shenton Thomas, cost $4,510, according to supplementary estimates laid before the Legislative Council.

This sum was made up of $1,540 wages for the officers and crew, $2,750 for additional fuel, stores, water and so on, and $220 for a survey by Lloyds' Surveyor. The Sea Belle II had been laid up since Sept. 1, 1933, and during that time the only provision made in the estimates was $1,000 for maintenance.

She was chartered, some months ago, by the tobacco heiress, Miss Dorcas Duke, and her husband for a tour of the Far East.

ROOSEVELT PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE

"Except for the few who place selfish gains above the national and world peace, the overwhelming mass of American citizens are heartily in accord with the basic policies of our Government and are also entirely sympathetic to the efforts of other nations to end the war."

CONFIDENCE WANING

"That is why we have consistently striven to approve the steps to remove the causes of war and have disapproved of the steps of others to commit acts of aggression. We have sought by a definite Act and solemn commitments to establish the United States as a good neighbour. We are acting to simplify the definitions of facts by calling war 'war' when an armed invasion with killing occurs."

"With disappointment and sorrow we confess that the world's gain has hitherto been small. The dangers that confront the rupture of mankind as a whole are greater to us than the dangers confronting the people of the United States alone. International jealousies continue, armaments increase, peace-disturbing national ambitions obtrude."

"Most serious of all, international confidence in the sacredness of international contracts is waning. While we cannot build walls around ourselves and hide our heads in the sand, we must go forward with all our strength and strive for international peace."

Mr. Thompson, who is travelling on the s.s. President Pierce to Manila to attend the inauguration ceremonies next Friday, is the foreign political writer for the San Francisco Chronicle.

St. Bruce asks ironically whether France has already become so weak that Paris cannot communicate with Berlin without previous authorisation from Moscow.

In any case, according to St. Bruce, the question of Franco-German relations will have to be re-examined one day, if only the alternative solution, namely the formation of a powerful European bloc, should prove impracticable.

TROOPING THE COLOUR

LINCOLNS' COLOURFUL CEREMONY

250TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

A BRILLIANT spectacle, favoured by very fine weather, took place on the Polo ground this morning when the ceremony of Trooping the Colour by the 1st Battalion, the Lincolnshire Regiment, in commemoration of the 250th anniversary of the raising of the Regiment (June 20, 1685), was held before a distinguished gathering including His Excellency the General Officer Commanding the Troops, Major General F. S. Thackeray, and Mrs. Thackeray (Lady Southorn) and party, attended by Captain W. J. R. Clegg (1/Lincolns), and officers representing every unit in Hong Kong.

The occasion was marked by the attendance of Major-General C. R. Simpson, C.B., Colonel of the Lincolnshire Regiment, who was the Reviewing Officer, and who presented the Battalion with new silver drums last Friday to mark this special occasion. Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. A. Griffin, D.S.O., was in command of the Parade, with the Adjutant, Lieutenant J. E. T. Pim.

Among the senior officers at strains of "The British Grenadiers" were Col. A. B. Hearle, D.S.O.; R.A. Col. E. St. G. Kirke, D.S.O.; R.E. Col. J. H. Morris, D.S.O., O.B.E., Lt.-Col. A. C. Marsh (East Lancashire Regiment); Lt.-Col. R. E. Hindson (Royal Welch Fusiliers) and others.

The ceremony comprised four Guards. They were: No. 1 Guard; Major H. St. G. Thoys, M.C.; Lieut. G. C. Wilson, Lieut. J. G. M. B. Gough (Officer carrying the Colour); C.S.M. J. R. Green, C/Sergt. W. S. Penton, Sergt. A. Harper, Sergt. E. Malpas, Sergt. F. Steans, L/Sergt. F. Smedley and 64 other ranks.

No. 2 Guard: Capt. R. L. de Brisay, Lieut. D. P. St. C. Roissier, C. S. M. J. W. Booth, C/Sergt. J. Reeks, Sergt. C. Harris, Sergt. W. Haywood and 64 other ranks. No. 3 Guard: Capt. C. Pennack, Lieut. E. D. S. Powell, C.S.M. G. A. Martin, C/Sergt. E. Potter, Sergt. F. Blow, L/Sergt. F. Smith and 64 other ranks and No. 4 Guard: Capt. C. T. Ingle, Lieut. A. Wall, C.S.M. B. O. Kime, C/Sergt. F. W. Wright, Sergt. E. Vickers, Sergt. H. Whittaker and 64 other ranks.

Others on parade were Regimental Sergeant Major P. H. Segon, Bandmaster R. W. Griffett, A.R.C.M., and Drum Major P. Tancred.

Officers on duty were Lieuts. K. E. Cotter, R. B. Williams, D. E. Wilson, D. A. O'Connor, P. G. Wormell, D. J. Russel, N. P. Dawson, G. H. King; C.S.M. A. F. Day, Sergt. F. Coleman, Sergt. E. Farquhar, Sergt. G. Bettis, Sergt. J. Waudby, Sergt. C. Taylor and L/Sergt. P. R. Gibson.

Ceremony Commences

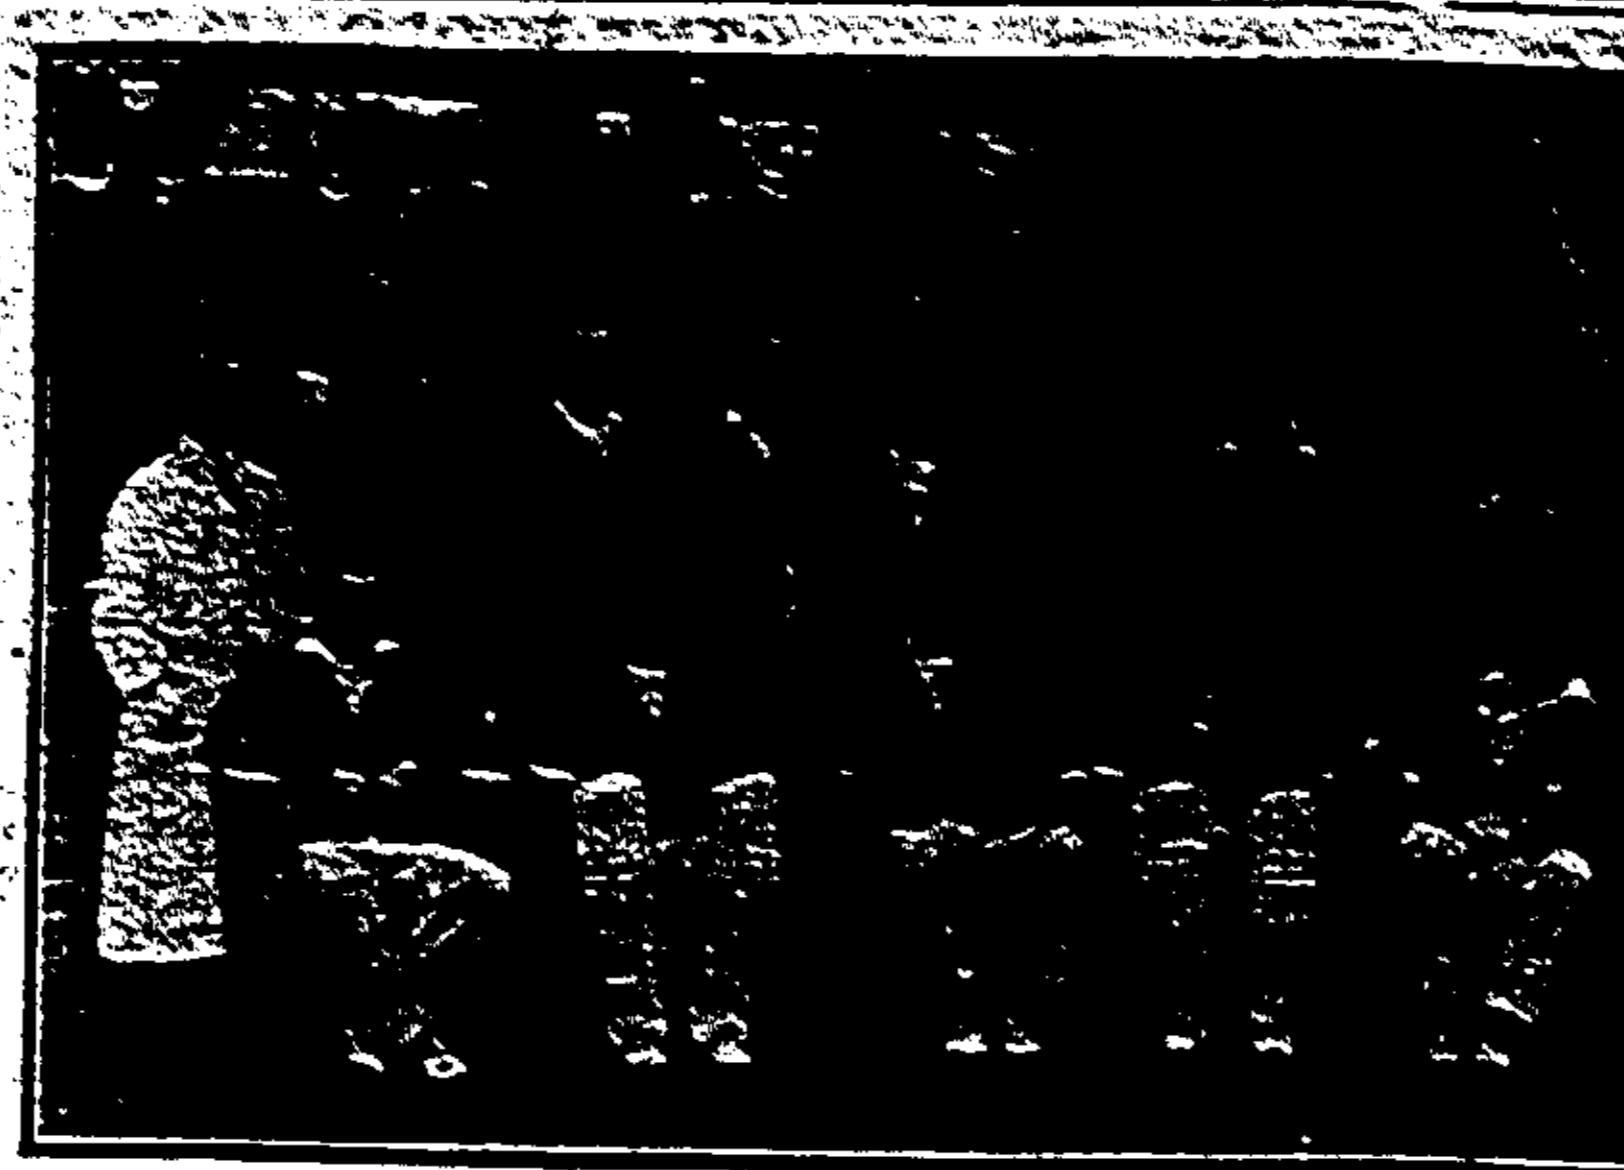

Promptly at about 10.30 a.m., the four Guards, without their officers, marched on the parade ground preceded by the Band and Drums, to the tune of "The Little Bugler." The Regimental Colour, in the keeping of a sergeant and two selected privates, came in on the left of the line. Except in this ceremony, Colours are not carried by anyone below the rank of commissioned officers. The significance of this and the absence of the officers was to show that the warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men were so trusted that the presence of officers other than the Adjutant was unnecessary.

The guards were then formed into line and dressed by the Adjutant. The warrant and non-commissioned officers were moved to the front to the strains of "England's Pride" and assembled with the officers on the saluting base. The Drums then beat the Assembly, which was the signal for officers to fall in on parade. The Adjutant, Lieutenant J. E. T. Pim, then handed over the parade to the Commanding Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. A. Griffin, D.S.O. All the officers, except the Adjutant, and warrant and non-commissioned officers then "recovered" their arms and slow-marched to their guards.

Ceremony Proper

The Band and Drums then commenced the ceremony proper by giving their formal salute to the Colour in a slow march, the Band singing "The Dishes of Kent" being played from right to left, and a quick march "The Royal Windsor" from left to right.

The right guard of the Escort for the Colour, under the Command of Major H. St. G. Thoys, M.C., moved out and halved on to the Colour to the mutual

FORGED $50 BANKNOTE

Supreme Court Case Opens

"PARTICULARLY CLEVER" IMITATION

Before His Honour, the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, in the Supreme Court this morning, Tam Sui-hong stood charged upon an indictment of uttering a forged banknote, purporting to be a $50 bill of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China banknote on October 24.

Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, the Assistant Crown Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Crown, while the defendant was not legally represented.

The following jury was empanelled: Messrs. A. Brostot, C. L. Rocha, E. Joffe, Ip Ching-shun, T. M. L. Redmond, Pang Yule-shun and L. Gardner.

In order to negative any allegation of chance or accident in the indictment Mr. Lockhart-Smith said that the defendant had uttered another forged note, a few days prior to committing the act for which she now stands charged.

Incidents Described

The first incident for which she was not indicted, had occurred in a leather shop in Mercer Street, where defendant had entered and made a purchase valued at $1.10, and passed a forged banknote in payment for the goods.

Later she went through the same procedure at a brass dealer's shop, but before the transaction was completed the owner of the leather shop sighted her and informed the brass dealer of the forged note. A policeman was called and the woman arrested.

The case is proceeding.

Deposit Offered

The accused offered to make a deposit of $10, although the widow had not at that time demanded any deposit. He produced a $50 bill, and following the custom she usually adopted when dealing with money of such denomination, the widow asked him to sign his name on the back. He wrote the letters W. K. C. in English characters, and when asked his name he said it was Wong Ming.

The defendant stated that he would send somebody to clean the house he had decided to take the following day, while two days after that he would take up residence.

The widow had some bills to pay at the Treasury and attempted to meet them with the $50 she had received from the defendant and it was then that she learned that it was a forgery.

On October 13 her son saw the defendant near the Sincere Co. and caused him to be arrested.

Clever Imitation

Before Mr. Pinna, of the Chartered Bank, was called, Mr. D'Almada stated that the defence was not challenging that the note was a forgery. Giving evidence Mr. Pinna stated that the forgery was particularly clever and it would be difficult for the layman to detect it.

Ho Nam, the police constable who had effected the arrest of the accused, stated that the widow's son, Chan Pak-kwan, had told him to arrest the defendant but he did not know for what reason he had done so.

The case is proceeding.

RETURNED DEPORTEES SENTENCED

The following sentences were passed on six men who were charged with breach of the deportation order at the Criminal Sessions in the Supreme Court this morning: Ng Ting, two years hard labour; Tsang Kam, two and a half years hard labour; Wong Mui, four years hard labour; Wong Hin, two years hard labour; Lai Wan, two and a half years hard labour; Pun Simi-chan, alias Pun Sui-hum, two years hard labour.

CENOTAPH CEREMONY IN LONDON

WITNESSED BY HUGE THRONGS

DUKE OF YORK REPRESENTS H. M. THE KING

London. To-day, the neighbourhood of Westminster Abbey had been thronged with crowds from early afternoon, and late yesterday evening the procession of relatives of those who fell in the Great War, bringing wreaths and flowers, still moved down Whitehall past the memorial.

A very large crowd assembled at the Cenotaph for the ceremony of the Two Minutes Silence, which was observed throughout the country and the Empire. His Majesty the King's wreath was laid by H.R.H. the Duke of York, and Her Majesty the Queen and the Duchess of York were present on the balcony of the Home Office.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales represented the King at the ceremony at Edinburgh, and afterwards attended the service in St. Giles' Cathedral.

OBSERVANCES ABROAD

Typical of the solemn celebration of Remembrance Day in every part of the Empire and by British residents in foreign countries were the ceremony at the Cross of Sacrifice at Gibraltar, at which the Governor-General, Sir Charles Harrington, was supported by detachments from the Army, Navy and Air Force, and the ceremonial observances of the Silence before the British Legation at Addis Ababa, while the troops forming the Legation Guard were drawn up.

Many of those who visited the Cenotaph in Whitehall moved on to Westminster Abbey to file past the grave of the Unknown Warrior. Some 3,000 poppy sellers had been at work all day all over the country collecting funds for the British Legion.

KING NOT PRESENT

In view of the weather conditions it was not considered advisable for His Majesty the King to attend the Armistice Day ceremony at the Cenotaph yesterday morning, and his place was taken by H.R.H. the Duke of York. His Majesty, accompanied by the Queen, left later by train from King's Cross en route for Sandringham — British Wireless Service.

FRENCH CEREMONIES

Paris: The Armistice Day public holiday was celebrated solemnly throughout France yesterday, memorial services being held everywhere at the graves of those who fell in the World War. The greatest of these memorial services was held at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier beneath the Arc de Triomphe, where M. Lebrun-Laval and the entire Cabinet and representatives of the diplomatic corps, the civil services, the defence forces, the war veterans' federations and tens of thousands of spectators assembled.

At 11 o'clock a gun was fired as a signal for the one minute's silence in memory of the dead. Then began a march past of troops under General Gouraud, the military governor of Paris.

NUMBER OF INCIDENTS
War flags were lowered before the Unknown Soldier's grave, which during the rest of the day was visited by tens of thousands of people and delegations from hundreds of societies.

ARMISTICE DAY IN SHANGHAI

Ceremony At The Cenotaph

Shanghai. To-day, the 17th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which ended the World War was commemorated here yesterday at 2.45 a.m. by the laying of a wreath at the Cenotaph on the tomb by the United Services Association. Brigadier-General P. B. MacNaughton, President of the Association, delivered a brief speech at the ceremony, which was followed by a service held at the Cathedral, attended by a large gathering of local foreign residents.

A concert was also given at the Lyceum Theatre by the United Services Association in commemoration of the occasion. Central News Agency.

No Energy For Anything!

Half-Hit—Half Walk

The Flight of the Victim of Exhausted Nerves, and the Remedy.

No matter how great your normal energy, no matter how strong your will, you cannot permanently impose too severe a strain upon your powers without sooner or later experiencing a breakdown.

The early symptoms of nervous exhaustion are easy to recognize. You lose your spirits, feel nervous and irritable, small things worry, assuming the aspect of big troubles. Your memory becomes uncertain and your thoughts confused; perhaps headaches, hot flushes, and a tendency to get easily excited are noticeable; your digestion suffers and you feel the need of stimulants to cheer you up and to aid your appetite. At night sleep is fitful, with the result that on rising you feel tired and unrefreshed for the labours of the day.

Probably the very best cure for such a condition is a long sea voyage. But few can afford either the time or the money for this. A method of treatment within the means of everybody, and which immensurable sufferers throughout the world have found completely efficacious, is by means of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is truly astonishing how a short course of these Pills enriches the blood, builds up the nerves and gives new vitality to the whole system.

The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this is because of their unique formula, devised originally by a physician (an M.D. of Edinburgh University, Scotland), a formula containing not only a number of ingredients highly beneficial to the human organism, but also one of much outstanding importance that it has been declared by the highest medical authority to be indispensable to life.

Their unsurpassed creative strength-restoring qualities have given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supreme place among the world's tonic remedies. Surely, therefore, they are worthy of a test if you need tonic help! Of chemists everywhere.

and say "sorry" before the sun would come out again. She was determined that on this occasion she would not adopt her customary role of penitent.

The cause of the quarrel, a trifle of domestic neglect, had been her fault; the immense fuss he had made about it was his. "I would have been sorry if he hadn't gone to such lengths," she said, "but now my small offence is swamped in his huge unpleasantness. It's for him to do the coming-round this time. And if doesn't? Well, I'm independent and can just get another woman to bully."

Her mind, behind the closed eyes, began to make plans for a life apart from him; ran over the items of furniture and linen that were hers; enough, she estimated, to make a country cottage habitable. She would live nearer London and keep a small car and see her friends. She was lucky to have an income of her own and no children yet.

It would be fun to be on one's own again, wouldn't it? To be candid nothing in the world looked very much like fun at this moment.

Interesting to see whether he would come on to the platform to meet her or would wait sullenly outside the station in his car. He was too self-satisfied to guess that she'd been in two minds about coming back at all. If he was still angry, she would tell him: good for him to have a jolt. But it would not be strictly true. To leave him just for a quarrel would be to stir up a storm in a tea-cup. One had to preserve one's sense of proportion, though the weary spirit cried, "How long?"

If opportunity should arise for her to "have it out" with him — a major operation — the two of them might then decide that life together had become intolerable; meanwhile she was going back. And she could not forecast the outcome; it all depended upon whether he met her at the train or waited outside the station in the car.

Depressed by the obscurity of the future, a makeshift at best, she opened her eyes and contemplated the "team spirit" from her.

BRAINS INSTEAD OF BRAWN

ever has either time or inclination to chase a ball across any kind of field.

Word For Tennis
The fifth does play golf sometimes, for air and relaxation after hard physical work, but would just as soon walk through woods or over the hills did not the community she lives in expect the "team spirit" from her. Anyway she certainly does not owe her good figure to spasmodic golf-playing, but much more probably to the strenuousness of her day's work.

In my dialect of games for girls, I pause uncertainly over tennis. It does not seem to have all the disadvantages of other pursuits — team-spirit, heavy-footedness, and so on. And certainly as played at Wimbledon now it seems to have become, and very gloriously, a woman's game.

Perhaps we must let tennis by; it is graceful, it goes not exact flat feet, it is adaptable to the female shape. But even so, its feminine champions weep publicly when they are beaten, or they issue medical bulletins.

Give Girls A Chance
There is something in the female nervous system, something in our make-up which defines the principles of athleticism. And a very good thing too. For games-playing is a pointless business.

Let young women keep fit by walking properly, that is anyhow a necessary ability, even by swimming moderately, since that too is useful. Let them eat sensibly, work hard, and have the courage to be individuals in their leisure, to think and stand back and be quiet — to bear and ignore their bodies, not them, and for Heaven's sake ignore their dazzling muscles for awhile and give their brains a chance.

"THE WOLF AT THE DOOR"

INK STUDY OF CHILD'S MIND

NOVEL FROM FRENCH

"The Wolf At The Door" (George Allen & Unwin Ltd.) By Robert Francis. Translated by Francoise Delisle. With an introduction by Havelock Ellis. The first of a series of novels of French life under the Third Republic.

This is a story about three little peasant girls in Northern France and their reactions to life as it was remotely affected by the War of 1870. The little girls have quaint fancies, flights of imagination, that lead to the book an atmosphere of unreality, a vague sense of something yet to come. At the same time the writer expresses himself very often with a realism similar to that of Zola while the range of his characters, their ability to live, and the quaint humour, are more than a little reminiscent of Dickens.

Strikingly Original

But although the writer is a little of Hans Anderson, of Zola and of Dickens, he is above all a Robert Francis. He is an individual and this book is often strikingly original. Young, and as yet of little experience as a writer, he is sometimes awkward and even tedious, but none the less I feel that Havelock Ellis's praise of the novel is justified. And it is easy to understand, too, the immediate success "The Wolf At The Door" enjoyed in France.

It is a book that must charm all who love children. Robert Francis is one of the rare writers who understand the thoughts and the deep sincerity of a child; understand that although a child may dwell constantly in fairytale, it may have impressions as real and feelings as intense as those experienced in the adult world.

GOLDSMITH'S LIFE STORY

Good Biographical Study

JUMBLE OF FRAILIES

"Oliver Goldsmith" (Thornton Butterworth, Ltd.) By Stephen Gwynn.

Once again this well-known biographer has given us a book well worth reading. Smooth, alive, and telling, his tale of Goldsmith's life is easily read and easily enjoyed.

The whimsical Goldsmith with all his absurdities, his love of strutting when it would have suited him better to sit quiet, his generous extravagance, and his sensitivity almost to a fault, lives again on these pages. We learn in Mr. Gwynn's graceful writing, the intimate details of the gentle poet's life, details that are sometimes painful to hear, but more often than simply delight and amuse.

Lovable Man
Mr. Gwynn has a gift for relating incident and drawing lights and shades of character that can never be mistaken for mere recording of documentary evidence. He has within an Irish fellow-feeling for the Goldsmith who loved man and the light of happy human faces, and he helps us to see through that jumble of frailties so often dwelt upon to the essential and very lovable man.

There are interesting details, too, of Goldsmith's relations with other prominent men of his day. The great Thomas and great-uncle William, "have you got he?" Nice old fellow, Jimmy. Funny how he never talks to you and me separate-like.

"He don't never see us separate-like." "Him old pair ain't no Thomas." Born bachelors, Missed a lot of trouble.

The little old man. And after a name in a tone both interested and admiring, "I've a cold comin' on my eye in that sunny Elizabeth keeps her home too hot for you to be used to the open."

Oh you get to see as we all have home Thomas, and I'll make a hot house for you to hold the larger old man in great comfort. When they fell into another of the long and simple life, and for all Goldsmith suffered much, died feeling lonely and wretched, it is that same old man, that be in his home, that pervaded the life and permeated this book.

AIR TRAVEL IN COMFORT

K.L.M. Winter Schedule Open

AMSTERDAM TO BATAVIA IN 6½ DAYS

On Saturday last week the winter service was started on the Amsterdam-Batavia airline of the K.L.M. The eastbound journey takes 6½ days, which is one day more than during last summer, but in the westward direction the duration of the journey remains the same: 5½ days.

The aeroplane starts at 8 a.m. from Schiphol, flying via Marseilles to Rome, where the first night is spent. The other night-stops are Cairo, Jodhpur, Rangoon, and Singapore.

At 10 o'clock in the morning of the seventh day Batavia is reached, where the KNILM takes charge of the connection with Semarang and Sourabaya. On the westbound journey travellers from these towns find immediate connection at Batavia with the homeward K.L.M. plane.

Meal Arrangements In the direction Batavia-Amsterdam the nights are spent at Medan, Rangoon, Jodhpur, Baghdad and Athens.

During both journeys the mid-day-meal and breakfast are taken at the hotels, and the second breakfast and tea at the restaurants at the respective airports along the route. Tea and other refreshments can also be had on board of the planes.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS

New Passenger Craft For Night Flying

London, To-day. As a result of the continuous growth of the Imperial Airways' services the Company has under construction or on order 23 flying boats and 12 land planes.

The new aircraft intended for use on Empire routes will have a carrying capacity of from three-and-a-half to five tons, including fuel load. Their designs embody a standard of passenger comfort superior to anything yet provided. There will be sleeping accommodation to allow of continuous day and night flying.

The speed of the new mail line aircraft operating to a 24 hours schedule will enable Imperial Airways to fly between London and Australia in seven days, to South Africa in four and to India in three. British Wireless Service.

LONDON TRAMS TO DISAPPEAR

Trolley-Bus Taking Their Place

London, To-day. The London Passenger Transport Board's plans for the gradual substitution of trolley-buses for trams in its area is being carried a step further by a proposal to apply to Parliament for powers to erect overhead wires along part of the routes in Central London where an underground rail has been used to supply current to trams. CARS COLLIDE IN WARDLEY ST.

Man Found Injured Afterwards

At about 7.30 last night, in a private car No. 4242, driven by Sher Mohammed, along Des Voeux Road in an easterly direction, was turning into Wardley Street. It came into collision with a public car No. 425, driven by Hung Ick-ching, which was coming in the opposite direction and which also was turning into Wardley Street. Following the collision an unknown Chinese about 22 years of age was found lying on the roadside, unconscious. He was removed to the Government Civil Hospital, where it was discovered he suffered from a fractured skull and his condition is serious.

CONCERT AT THE CATHEDRAL

Fine Music By
"The Singers"

RARE MUSICAL TREAT

St. John's Cathedral was filled to overflowing last night when the Hong Kong Singers rendered Elgar's "For the Fallen" and Brahms' "Requiem" as a special Armistice Day programme of music.

These magnificent works were rendered with a precision and understanding which was an immense credit to all concerned. The solo parts were sung by Mrs. J. Anderson Miller (Soprano) and the Rev. Cyril Brown (Baritone), while Mr. J. Anderson Miller, L.R.A.M., conducted, and Mr. Lindsay A. Eafford, F.R.C.O., L.R.A.M., A.R.C.M., accompanied on the organ. Special congratulations are due to Mrs. Anderson Miller for her lovely rendering of the "Ye who now sorrow" solo from the "Requiem," in which her purity of tone and delicate phrasing were especially evident.

Bishop Hall offered prayers and a blessing during the concert, and a collection was taken on behalf of St. Dunstan's and the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children. The evening provided a musical treat such as Hong Kong is not often privileged to have, and those present last night were unanimous in their praise and appreciation.

THEY SHOUTED "HEIL MOSCOW"

CHINA YEAR BOOK

1935 EDITION

The 25 Chapters of the 17th issue of the CHINA YEAR BOOK, edited by H. G. W. Woodhead, C.B.E., have as usual been revised or rewritten with the assistance of many experts, Chinese and foreign, and every effort has been made to bring information and statistics up to date.

The Chapter on the Kuomintang covers the political history of China in 1934. The Chapter on the Chinese Government contains the Text of the Provisional Constitution, the Organic Law, and the Draft of the Permanent Constitution.

The Chapter on International Issues gives the text of the Agreement and Exchange of Notes of the sale of the Chinese-Eastern Railway, besides the latest documents relating to Sino-Japanese issues.

China's Communications — Railways, Roads, Post Office, Telegraphs, Wireless, Telephones and Aviation — are very fully dealt with.

Father D'Elia, in the Chapter on Religions, contributes an interesting Chronological Review of Catholic Missions in China.

Mr. E. Kam is also responsible for the Chapter on Currency and Banking, and of the Loan Tables.

A new feature is a Chapter on China's Modern Industries.

CHINA'S SILVER POLICY

Increased Smuggling Reported

SPECULATORS MAKE HAY

Tientsin. To-day. Taking advantage of the fresh situation arising from the announcement of the Government's silver decree, unscrupulous merchants and certain foreign nationals in Tangshan have redoubled their efforts to smuggle silver, as is evidenced by their extensive purchase of silver dollars during the past few days, a message from the mining towns along the Peipingfu states.

It is reported that not only has the value of silver and copper coins in the town risen considerably, but also the prices of commodities have reached high levels. The price of rice and other daily necessities has risen to about 30 per cent more than their original prices.

The efforts of the local Chinese authorities to curb the activities of the selfish speculators have, however, met with no success, the report further states.

DISORGANISED MARKETS

Tsinan, To-day. As a direct result of the announcement of the Government policy for the nationalisation of silver on November 4, the monetary market here experienced slight disturbance on Sunday.

Coupled with the sudden rise in the value of copper coins in the city the prices of commodities have risen considerably. Owing to the tightening up of money circulation, many shops here have closed their doors.

All the commercial firms here have experienced some difficulty in carrying on their business, as the banks refuse to extend them credit loans. In view of the situation, the local Chamber of Commerce has requested the Departments of Finance and Reconstruction of the Shantung Government to accord credit loans to the commercial establishments, so as to relieve the market.

NOTES BEING WITHDRAWN

Chungking. To-day. No less than $30,000,000 worth of banknotes issued by the native banks in Szechuan have been withdrawn from circulation by the Chungking Branch of the Central Bank of China.

It is learned that there is still more than $1,000,000 worth of native banknotes now in circulation in the various districts of the Province which have not been redeemed by the Central Bank. These, however, are expected to be withdrawn within one month.

Central News Agency.

SIR ALAN RAE SMITH'S APPOINTMENT

London, Yesterday. — Sir Alan Rae Smith has been appointed Chairman of the Colonial Development Advisory Committee for a term of 3 years vice the late Sir Basil Blackett. Sir Alan Pim and Sir George Schuster have also been appointed members of the committee for a term of 3 years. — British Wireless Service.

WEATHER REPORT

The anticyclone has decreased in intensity and moved eastward. It is now centred over Manchuria. A deep depression is situated to the east of Hokkaido. The Pacific typhoon is about 220 miles to the east of Yen, moving west. Northeast winds moderate, slightly warmer, was the forecast when it was issued by the Royal Observatory yesterday.

NAZIS SENTENCED IN VIENNA

Vienna. To-day. Of eleven persons called upon to answer in court, an accusation of having hoisted the swastika flag in a church here on May 1 this year, two were sentenced each to one, and a half year's hard labour, and another six to one year's imprisonment. Six were acquitted. — Trans-Ocean Service.

UNLAWFUL ARRESTS BY JAPANESE

STRONG PROTEST LODGED

INTERNATIONAL LAW VIOLATED

Nanking. To-day. A strong protest against the recent unlawful arrest of Mr. Nien Kwang-yao, Committee member of the Tientsin Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Wang Yi-fan and other members of the Chinese newspaper Censorship Bureau, Tientsin, and Mr. Li Ming, a sectional chief in the Social Bureau of the Tientsin Municipal Government, by Japanese gendarmes in Tientsin, was lodged by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on November 9 with Mr. Ariyoshi, the Japanese Ambassador, it was learned yesterday.

The note states that such arrests of Chinese officials and citizens in Chinese territory are grave violations of Chinese sovereignty as well as contrary to international law, and demands that appropriate measures should be immediately taken to stop any possible recurrence of similar incidents in future. — Central News Agency.

JAPAN AND THE SOUTH-WEST

Fukien To Be Base Of Activities?

Canton, To-day. Rumours of Japanese aggressive aims in the South-west have been current in the city for the past few days. The Governor of Formosa, it is said, has been appointed the sole authority of carrying out the Japan policy towards the South-west Government, and Fukien is to be the base of Japanese activities. The Japanese economic hold on Fukien is to be strengthened by the completion of the Fukien-Formosa Air Service, and the Kwangsi authorities will be approached not to co-operate with the Central Government, so that arrangements may be made to establish a puppet monarchy in the South-Neutral Zone.

It is pointed out that China has not reformed her currency at Britain's instigation nor with British help. Although tentative British, Japanese and American discussions occurred on the subject of an international loan to China, no definite proposals as regards the precise form of the loan had been proposed by Britain to Japan as a result of Sir Frederick Lethbridge's visit to Nanking.

It is therefore regarded in London as all the more surprising that Japan at this stage of the discussions should content itself with notifying Britain of her

EUGENICS IN GERMANY

State As Marriage Intermediary

HEALTHY PROGENY AIM

— CHINA MAIL — SPECIAL Berlin. To-day.

An interesting proposal for facilitating the finding of marriage partners suitable from an eugenic point of view is made in the periodical Ziel und Weg, the official organ of the native German medical practitioners' federation, the object being to assure healthy progeny for Germany's next generation.

The writer says that the Government's marriage loan plan is practical so far as the solution of the social problem is concerned, but that it is by no means sufficient.

Innumerable healthy young Germans have neither the opportunity nor the means to make the acquaintance of suitable partners, while a large number of young men are so shy of marriage that many young women eager and suitable for marriage, are forced to remain single. The result is a resort to agencies which profess to find suitable partners, but are in many cases mere swindles.

Obviously, says the writer, the National-Socialist State must itself act as the intermediary to bring together young men and women hereditarily sound. Civil registrars must keep lists where young men and women can register their names free of cost, so that the pernicious influence of irresponsible agents may be eliminated. — Trans-Ocean Service.

Ways And Means To Save The Nation

Canton, To-day.

The Fifth National Kuomintang Congress will discuss ways and means of saving China to-day. All provinces are urgently requested to send representatives to this Session.

Representatives from the Kuomintang of Canton and Kwangsi boarded the Junker and Hispano tri-motored plane for Nanking at 8.30 am. yesterday under the sponsorship of the Nanking representatives and the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, who especially supplied the plane to take the following representatives to Nanking. Messrs. Lum Min Koi, Liu Che-min, Wang Yuk-cho, Chun You-min, Wang Lun-si, Wai Won-soong, Yeung Chung-kun, Wang Ho-hoon, Ong Yick-che, Ong Gee-moi and Cheng Yuk-min. — Union News.
